

Figure 1: Instrumented Rhizotron with seedling. In the initial version the electrodes are wired through the holes in the rhizotron but in the future development, we will mount the electrodes on rods distributed around the plant root.

